

Hello VL members!

This is a guide on how to post your video(s) on the VL Community Forum.

Ok. . . First things first.

1. Get your video from your video camera loaded onto your computer (read your video camera manual, it should tell you how)
 2. Once the video file is in your computer, go to <http://www.youtube.com> and create an account (The youtube site has tons of videos explaining how to do just that; use it to learn how to create your account and how to upload your videos)
 3. Now that you have your video(s) uploaded on youtube, here is how to get it posted on the VL community website.
- On the youtube website . . . If you look just below your uploaded video, there is a button labelled "Share"

- Go ahead and click on the "Share" button. That will display a larger window below the video which contains yet another button labelled "Embed".

- Go ahead and click on the "Embed" button. That action will further extend the window below the video. The window that has the highlighted HTML code is the information you will need to copy (so keep that in mind). The information below the highlighted window is useful, but for now, just make sure to uncheck all the checkboxes and that the video is no larger than 480 X 360 (for website formatting reasons).

- If you followed these instructions this far, you are doing great! We're almost there. Now open another window on your browser and go the VL website (<http://www.violinlab.com>), login and click on the Community Tab. Once there you will notice the "Submit a Question" button on the right.

- Click on the "Submit a Question" button to start a new thread to post your video or to start a new discussion topic. A window will open allowing you to enter your question and or video.

- To post your question/comment simply start typing inside the text box. The submit question window allows you to change the font, insert a link, insert an image and embed your video by simply clicking on the displayed buttons. So go ahead and type your question/comment and then click on the "embed" button to open a separate window for you to "paste" that highlighted text code you copied from the youtube website.

- Once you have typed your text and "pasted" the youtube information into the "embed code for video:" window, it should look something like this:

The screenshot shows a web form titled "Submit Question". At the top, there is a toolbar with buttons for Bold (B), Italic (I), Underline (U), a horizontal line, a list icon, a video icon, and buttons for "link", "image", and "embed". Below the toolbar is a large text box containing the text "Hi Beth! Could you please". Underneath the text box is a section labeled "embed code for video:" followed by a text area containing the following HTML code:

```
<iframe width="420" height="315" src="http://www.youtube.com/embed/XqIOgM_dORg?rel=0" frameborder="0" allowfullscreen></iframe>
```

 At the bottom of the form, there is a "Submit Question" button, which is circled in red.

- Once you've entered all the information you want in the text box and in the embed windows completed to your satisfaction (do check, as there is no editing later!), click on the "Submit Question" button.
- If you followed all the instructions above, your youtube excellent video should now be posted on the VL's Community page! Hurray!!! You are done!
- The only thing left now it to grab yourself a nice beverage, sit back and wait for the community to respond to your excellent video post.
